Arab Center for Consultancy & Economic Studies Internship 2025 Program for Students

Description

Welcome to the Arab Center for Consultancy & Economic Studies (ACCES) in Abu Dhabi, where knowledge, innovation, and collaboration merge to shape the economic landscape of the Arab world. ACCES is a renowned institution that operates at the forefront of economic research and consultancy, driving sustainable development and promoting informed decision-making. In this blog post, we will explore the center's description, responsibilities, qualifications, experience, skills, job benefits, and how to get in touch with them. Let's dive in!

At ACCES, we are committed to unraveling economic opportunities and challenges that shape the Arab region. Our esteemed team of experts conducts cutting-edge research, provides strategic economic consultancy, and delivers comprehensive policy recommendations. Through our rigorous analysis, we aim to drive economic growth, enhance productivity, and foster sustainable development across various sectors. ACCES serves as a catalyst for positive change in the Arab world, promoting evidence-based policies that impact local, regional, and international economies.

Responsibilities

As a member of ACCES, you will have the unique opportunity to contribute to shaping economic strategies and policies. Your responsibilities will involve conducting research on diverse economic issues, analyzing data, and providing expert advice to clients from government agencies, private enterprises, and international organizations. Additionally, you will collaborate with a multidisciplinary team of economists, researchers, and consultants to deliver actionable solutions and make a tangible impact on the economic landscape.

Qualifications

To join ACCES, you should possess a strong academic background in economics, finance, or a related field. A master's degree or Ph.D. is preferred, but exceptional candidates with a bachelor's degree and significant experience will also be considered. In addition to your educational qualifications, you should have a deep understanding of economic theory, research methodologies, and statistical analysis. Strong analytical and problem-solving skills, coupled with excellent communication abilities, will be essential for success in this role.

Experience

ACCES values experience as a cornerstone for generating valuable insights. While specific experience requirements may vary depending on the position, a demonstrated track record in economic research, consultancy, or policy analysis is highly desirable. Experience working on projects related to Arab economies, regional development, or international economics will be advantageous. ACCES fosters a collaborative environment where your expertise will grow and thrive, allowing you to contribute meaningfully to economic discourse.
